

Morgan Booth

Available works December 2025

Morgan Booth is an established Pop Figurative artist based in Toronto, Canada. Her signature blue figure mixed media paintings use surreal color choices and figures to explore concepts of identity and discovery of self. Playing with the perceptual experience and physical response to color, Booth uses blue tones to evoke feelings of calmness and contemplation, while using the intensity of warm colors as an emotional contrast.

Selected exhibitions include J/M Gallery in London, Modern Eden Gallery in San Francisco, the Art Gallery of Mississauga, and Arch Enemy Arts in Philadelphia. Booth's works are part of private collections in Canada, the United States, England, and Australia.

Artist Statement:

Within my work, I leverage the emotive and physiological potential of color to elicit responses from the viewer. Science suggests that short wave colors like blue can slow the heart rate, inducing relaxation, while warmer hues, like red, possess the capacity to stimulate and elevate heart rate. This deliberate play with color effects becomes a central theme, encouraging observers to introspectively navigate their own emotional and physical reactions to each piece. The convergence of these color dynamics amplifies the viewer's engagement, prompting a deeper exploration of the figures within my compositions.

The surreality of color and the contemplative expressions of the characters are used to push and pull the viewer. The figures, often caught in an unwavering stare, intend to create an experience where the viewer is captivated by the sensation of being seen. This confrontation creates both tension and release as vulnerabilities, strengths and the sense of self are examined. This experience creates a relationship between the character and the viewer that is both intimate and discomfiting, the startling moment of being truly recognized.

I use a mix of media in my process, the figure is rendered softly in blue oil paint and is contrasted with the use of stark, flat colors and shapes using acrylic spray paint, airbrush and stencil work. The juxtaposition of rendered versus simplified elements is used to focus on the complexity contained within the self, a barrier to the outer world. A strategic embrace of limited color palettes and design elements is instrumental in my process, creating a consistent visual language that continually challenges me to manipulate and use it in new ways.

Solo Exhibition “Tooth & Nail” 2025

Eight new paintings of powerful women, done in the artist’s signature monochromatic blue, stand before intense and opaque backdrops of fire engine red. Each of these women wears or wields some kind of weapon. From a samurai sword to ninja stars, a flail, arrows, and a barbed-wire bat, they brandish their fierce, feminine bad-assery with symbols of strength that span continents and millennia.
